3.2m Australians have high cholesterol. The higher your blood LDL level, the higher your risk of heart disease or stroke. There are no symptoms of high cholesterol, you could have high cholesterol and not even know it! A simple blood test will show your levels.

Over 380 deaths occur in Australia each year due to Asthma complications, YET it is a totally preventable and controllable condition. It is the most common occupational lung disease in the developed world. You could have asthma and not even know it! A simple lung function test could be your answer.
