Techniques and treatments used:

We are a specialist Gonstead Clinic.

This is a safe, gentle manual technique which achieves excellent results. Practising Gonstead requires the completion of significant additional specialised training and Chiropractic Works is the only clinic north of Brisbane to specialise in it. Our equipment is modern and is the highest quality.

Our qualifications:

Each Chiropractic Works Chiropractor has completed at least five years of full time university study and has a minimum of two university degrees. Each one of our team has completed additional training to specialise in the Gonstead technique & we regularly attend seminars and conferences to stay up to date with the latest information.

We have earned a reputation for helping people with all sorts of problems. We specialise in difficult cases so even if you have tried other therapies without improvement, there is still a good chance we may be able to help you. We find that even people who thought they could not be helped, often get good results in our clinic.

Our specialised training and techniques allow us to find and correct the cause of your pain and discomfort.
