

There is an increasing variety of pavers on the market at the moment. You will need to consider size, colour and what the paver is made from as well as the purpose and size of the pavement areas before you decide on a paver.

Pavers can be laid in various patterns such as stretch-a-bond and basket weave. A different colour border can be added for interest.

The pavement sub base will vary according to the intended use of the pavement area. In some circumstances a sand/cement sub base is used and for other situations a concrete underlay may be required. Click Images to Enlarge
