

Signs to decide whether to replace or repair your aircon system:

It's a big dilemma in which most of our clients suffer from. Well, it may seem to decide as you don't always realise what is more monetary beneficial for you. And, also it is about understanding the aircon will perform efficiently even after you spend so much money on the repairing job or not. However, you can decide when exactly you need to go for a replacement if you follow up the signs correctly.

Effective air conditioning maintenance tips for this summer:

Though summer has arrived in Perth, yet the hottest months are yet to come. January and February being the hottest months should ascertain that your air conditioning system performs efficiently. Weather being dry, it becomes almost impossible to sustain in such hot conditions. To our rescue, what we have is the air conditioning units that provide the ultimate comfort even during these months.

Top 6 reasons why people are preferring ducted air conditioning installation:

Ducted air-conditioning systems are one of the more popular chosen systems for cooling and heating your home in Perth. Most people enjoy the minimalist design that also accommodates small to larger and more complex home layouts. The inverter technology can significantly reduce the energy that is consumed in your home air-conditioning system. The following blog highlights some of the features that make ducted air-conditioning the popular choice of system.

Know the benefits of installing reverse cycle air conditioning this winter:

It is quite natural to get confused when you are required to choose the right air conditioning system for your house with so many options out there. Apart from the location and the structure of the house, the weather is another essential factor to be considered on this occasion. While for summer, you should consider installing the split system, for the coming winter in Australia, you should consider installing a reverse cycle air conditioner in Perth under the professional assistance and guidance.

Why choose Aircon Express for heating & cooling:

Aircon Express services all areas including Perth metropolitan area, North, South, Eastern or Western suburbs, as well as the Perth hills. Whether you need a regular maintenance, service or a repair, for all your air-conditioning needs our experienced and reliable trades team will cover it all!