

hello

I'm Joe Chisari

Sales Consultant

While relatively new to real estate, Joe Chisari has many years experience working in sales and management positions for the car industry and retail sector.

He brings with him a clear understanding of what it takes to be a successful sales person and realises that to experience great results, one must realise that the real estate industry is more about people and the relationships you build, than it is about property.

"Honesty and understanding are the key attributes at a real estate agent should display. One doesn't last long in this business unless they are honest with clients, nor do they survive if they fail to listen to and understand their needs."

Joe believes teamwork is paramount for providing the best quality of service to clients. With a strong focus on customer care, Joe expresses that one of the factors that attracted him to Barry Plant was the company's philosophy of delivering a red carpet real estate experience to all clients.

"I have always admired Barry Plant's customer driven philosophy to real estate. I strongly believe customer service is the most important aspect of my role, so it's exciting being part of a team who continually strive to deliver an exceptional client experience."

Joe has a genuine desire to help both vendors and purchasers alike. He appreciates the buying and selling process can be at times daunting, and is committed to ensuring the entire process is as seamless and straight forward as possible.
