

hello

I'm Chris Katis

Sales Consultant, Robinvale Specialist

Chris Katis is an accomplished real estate agent who prides himself on being a friendly, loyal and hard-working professional.

Prior to commencing his real estate career, Chris combined the demands of a family retail business with the challenges of managing his Robinvale fruit block, from which he harvested not only dried fruit and table grapes, but an in depth knowledge of the horticultural industry. An amount of time in hospitality has rounded his working experience.

An active property investor for over 25 years, in 2006 he decided to turn his interest for real estate into a full time profession, and has enjoyed great success ever since. In the years 2008 to 2010, Chris was recognised for his hard work and dedication, being the Highest Gross Commission Earner for the company across North West Victoria.

Along with his commitment to displaying a high level of professionalism at all times, Chris describes the most rewarding part of his job as being able to meet new people and assist them with their property requirements.

"Real Estate is a topic of conversation at every dinner party. This is due to the fact that most people have an invested interest in the property market's performance. I enjoy imparting the knowledge I have gained through years of experience and training, not only to the buyers and sellers with whom I have established business relationships, but also to family and friends. I'm happy to be able to assist people in making the best possible property decisions to suit their individual requirements and lifestyle," he says.

Growing up in Robinvale and attending the local high school, Chris has lived in the area his entire life. His extensive knowledge of the region has proved to be one of Chris' most valuable assets throughout his real estate career.
