

Our Company

In Selecting our family's company, you are selecting a company held in the highest regard within the funeral profession. Operating under the management of Michael and Rachel Butler since 1992, Ivan Butler Funerals was founded by Ivan and Coral Butler 1975.

Since this time, a trusted reputation has been established in all areas of funeral service and care.

We are aware that a funeral is a very personal event. With this in mind, our aim is to provide you with highest level of personal attention and professional service, which can satisfy those wishes of your loved one and your family.

At Ivan Butler Funerals, you are assigned a personal funeral consultant who is available to advise in all aspects of funeral service. From the first consultation whether in the privacy of your own home, or our conveniently located offices, your consultant will be there for you, to the final delivery of the funeral service. We are available to assist following the service also, through bereavement support, or the selection of a suitable memorial for your loved one.
